

MIKE McMAHON

Occupation: Retired Businessman/Community Volunteer

My education and qualifications are: With an accounting degree from Cal State University at Hayward, public and private audit experience and twelve years on the Alameda School Board, I will bring a unique perspective to the Alameda City Auditor position. Alameda has a rich history of grassroots movements and civic engagement. From Measure A to recent examples involving the Mif Albright golf course and the Crab Cove property, Alamedans demand public accountability. I am running for City Auditor to develop a higher level of transparency and civic engagement regarding city finances. By bringing a greater understanding of the city's fiscal health, Alameda citizens will be able to judge the quality of public safety services, the reliability of the public infrastructure and the availability of community services for all Alamedans. Finally, we need to ensure the development of Alameda Point and other underutilized properties are fiscally responsible and minimize the risk to Alameda taxpayers. To learn about the role of the City Auditor, visit my website www.mikemcmahon.info/auditor.htm